First National Wealth Management employees serve up three dinners for the Salvation Army

First National's community commitment continues to make a difference.

WEST CHESTER - Employees of First National Wealth Management, a division of First National Bank of Chester County, provided three dinners in the soup kitchen at the West Chester Salvation Army during June, July and August.

“First National has a long standing tradition of volunteering with the Salvation Army. Our employees participate in their canned food drive in October, ring bells in December and this was just another way of showing our commitment to the Salvation Army and all that they do for our community,” said Clay T. Henry, Executive Vice President of First National’s Wealth Management Division.

Preparing and serving the meals from First National were Sherry Cannan, Randy Cohen, Harriet Clark, Debbie Connelly, Liz Golding, Judy Harris, Keli High, Diane Johnson, Lynn Mander, Fran Mantione, David Marx, Jim Quillen, Glenn Reyburn, Karen Stahl, Amy Flynn-Sutter, Michelle Steinberger, Betsy Stier, John Stoddart, Troy Vogt and Cathy Wilson. The Bradford Plaza Giant Food Store generously contributed $100 towards the dinner budgets.
